DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

The amendment received 10-26-04 overcomes the examiner's prior art rejection.

Hence claims 1, 3-5 and 7-9 are allowed.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

1. The applicant's argument states "Even if the cell permanent identity is an The permanent identity is global identity changes, the terminal identifies the base station to which it is communicating on the permanent identity that remains the same (page 9, line 19, to page 10, line 5)." This is persuasive and overcomes the examiner's previous rejections. Independent claims 1 and 5 have been amended to incorporate the limitations of claims 2, 6, and 10 and now recites that "the permanent base station identity designation is an addition to the cell identity of the global cell identifier wherein the information signal is transmitted from the base station to the terminal equipment in a cell broadcast channel of the mobile communication network".

2. Independent claims 1 and 5 are further amended to recite "whereby the step of changing the subscriber profile is a function of the terminal equipment that does not require an update in response to a network reconfiguration changing the cell identity of the global cell identifier. Beddoes fails to disclose (1) that a permanent identity of a base station is generated and transmitted in an information signal from the base station to mobile terminals in its coverage area in addition to the CGI cell identifier, and (2) that the function of changing a subscriber profile based on a permanent base station identity does not require an update in response to changes to the cell identity of a CGI of a base station.

3. The applicant notes that Beddoes' identifying signal is not broadcast by the base station. Rather, it is generated by the mobile terminal in response to the cell identifying signal. However, as pointed out previously, even if arguing the identification signal were to be considered a permanent identifier, the identification signal of Beddoes is not broadcast by the base station. Rather it is generated at the mobile terminal in response to the cell identifier received at the base station and is therefore subject to network reconfiguration changes.

4. The applicant also points out Beddoes fails to teach or suggest "changing, by the terminal equipment, the subscriber profile based on the permanent base station identity designation received by the terminal equipment of the subscriber from the base station, whereby the step of changing the subscriber profile is a function of the terminal equipment that does not require an update in response to a network reconfiguration changing the cell identity of the global cell identifier."

5. The applicant states that Vendetti fails to disclose, teach or suggest that the permanent base station identity designation is in addition to the cell identity of the global cell identifier, wherein the information signal is transmitted from the base station to the terminal equipment in a cell broadcast channel of the mobile communication network, or "changing, by the terminal equipment, the subscriber profile based on the permanent base station identity designation received by the terminal equipment of the subscriber from the base station, whereby the step of changing the subscriber profile is a function of the terminal equipment that does not require an update in response to a network reconfiguration changing the cell identity of the global cell identifier", as is recited in independent claims 1 and 5.

6. Dependent claims 3-4 and 7-9, each being dependent on one of independent claims 1 and 5, are deemed allowable for at least the same reasons as are independent claims 1 and 5.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
